HOSPITAL TO GET ANOTHER HEARING

Damage Suit to Be Argued in Supreme Court—Appeal in Divorce Suit.

Reading that it is organized not to make money, but to benefit suffering humanity, the Hospital of St. Vincent de Paul, in Norfolk, was yesterday granted a writ of error from a judgment of the Law and Chancery Court of that city, by which it was ordered to pay $2,500 to Mrs. Sallie W. Thompson for personal injuries. The case came on the docket of the Supreme Court of Appeals for hearing at the November term.

Mrs. Thompson accompanied a sick friend to the hospital, in a carriage in which they were driven to a year house, where the driver rang the bell. No response was received, and Mrs. Thompson, anxious, she said, about her friend, alighted and entered the door. She stepped into an open elevator shaft and fell several feet, sustaining a profuse and suffering injury, she says are permanent. The hospital claims she was guilty of contributory negligence.

The court also granted an appeal to John L. Harrison, in his suit for divorce against Martha P. Harrison, formerly Miss Brandt, from the Circuit Court of Henry County. He claimed his wife deserted him, going to live with her father. It seems he brought her first in 1909, claiming three years of desertion, but was mixed in his dates, and the divorce was refused. He tried again, recently, the wife claiming that the case was res adjudicata, and he again lost. The wife taunts him with being actuated by a desire to remedy.

The court granted a writ of error to the Stonegar Colliery Company against J. J. Kelly and O. M. Vickers, from the Circuit Court of Wise County, concerning the erection of buildings for tenants on leased land. The case will be heard at Wytheville.

Elected President of Richmond Trust and Savings Company by Board of Directors.

Directors of the Richmond Trust and Savings Company, at a meeting held yesterday, elected E. L. Bemiss president, to succeed John Skelton Williams, who has resigned to become Assistant Secretary of the Supreme Court. Mr. Bemiss heretofore has been Vice president, although no one was elected to succeed him in that position. R. Lancaster Williams, of Baltimore, was named as director to succeed John Skelton Williams. Officers of the company now are: E. L. Bemiss, president; James G. Tinsley, vice-president; S. D. Seuder, vice-president and treasurer; and H. J. Williamson, Jr., secretary and assistant treasurer. The board of directors is composed of the following: Benjamin P. Alsop, Charles J. Anderson, Joseph B. Beasley, E. L. Bemiss, George C. Brown, S. E. Ellett, George A. Gibson, Eppa H. Hines, Jr., George A. Johnston, J. William Middendorf, James A. Moncre, Oliver J. Sands, S. D. Seuder, John T. Stone, James G. Tinsley, S. A. Travers, Granville G. Valentine, Thomas S. Wheelwright, I. M. Williams, R. Lancaster Williams, John T. Wilson, Stewart M. Woodward.

In accepting the appointment as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, it became necessary for Mr. Williams to resign as an officer and director of many corporations. He will begin his new duties in Washington next week. The directors of the Richmond Trust and Savings Company reported yesterday that while the institution was only started in October last, it has been far more successful than might have been expected in so short a time.

SUNDAY MAY BE FAIR

Even Chance That Skies Will Be Clear, According to Weather Men.

There is at least an even chance that Easter Sunday will be the fair and smiling day that it should, if all the clouds are to blossom out in their spring porcupine-like form after the forecast of the most reliable prognosticators that the prognosticators could give last night.

When pressed for an answer to the all-important question as to what the Easter weather will be, Director Evans explained that in the present lack of state of the elements a guess that far ahead is not worth much, but that it is more apt to be fair to-morrow than raining.

The temperature is due to go down today, and may keep on going down until night, with to-morrow ought to be warmer, with smiling skies. The greatest danger is from the storm that has been making in the vicinity of Great Lakes, and may pay a visit to Virginia. That squall of wind and rain that struck Richmond early yesterday afternoon was a part of it, and there may be more coming.

PAYS $20 FINE

E. T. Pendleton Sold Cigarettes to Boy Under Sixteen Years.

E. T. Pendleton, of the mild cigar store, paid a fine of $20 and costs yesterday morning in Police Court for selling cigarettes to Robert Jones, under the age of sixteen years. Pendleton admitted that he had sold a box of cigarettes to Robert Jones, who is large for his age, was more than sixteen years old. The case has been pending before Justice Crutcher for some time.

The case of Charles E. Straus, Jr., of the Straus Cigar Company, which has also been pending for some time, was again continued. Justice Crutcher announced he would render a decision on April 7. One of his clerks is alleged to have sold cigarettes to Fred Jones, Jr., under the age of sixteen. The boy, however, could not identify the clerk who made the sale.

HELD WITHOUT BOND

One Negro Fatally Stabs Another at a Dance.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Spencer N. C., March 21.—Because Elliott Moore stepped on the toe of Paulie Hitting, who courted him, Moore was arrested early this morning. William Clark cut a hole in Moore's side with a knife and let his blood run out on the ground. Moore lived only a short time after being stabbed.

Moore stepped on the toe of the Hitting man and Clark took it up, and it is said that Moore was killed. The Hitting man gave him the death blow with a knife. Moore ran across the railroad yards and fell in a dying condition. The officer arrested Clark, carried him before the dying man, who identified his assailant.

Coroner W. T. Sumner was called at Moore's home early this morning. The jury decided that Moore met his death at the hands of Clark, who was killed with a hot lead. Clark, it was said, was also held as accessory to the crime.

Obstructed Sidewalks.
Five merchants, Abram Sidenberg, Pauline Bendix, Annie Rifkin, M. Pincus and Annie Sidenberg were each fined $10 yesterday morning in Police Court for obstructing the sidewalk with displays of merchandise. All of these have stores near the First Market. Rules were issued for two merchants who failed to respond to summonses.

SAY HE TRIED TO HOLD UP SAVAGE

Police Arrest Pedigo on Charge of Trying to Get Money by Threats.

S. F. Pedigo, fifty-one years old, who said he was a lumber dealer, was arrested yesterday by Detective-Sergeants Wiley and Kellam on the charge of unlawfully threatening to accuse K. B. Savage, proprietor of a saloon at 114 East Main Street, of having committed the crime of selling liquor to a minor in an attempt to extort from him the sum of $150.

When last night Pedigo said that Savage had sold beer to his eighteen-year-old son and he felt that he had been "greatly damaged," and in view of that fact thought the saloon-keeper should "pay the damages."

Several weeks ago, according to Pedigo, he saw his son leave Savage's bar with a bucket containing beer. Pedigo told him he had bought it at Savage's without being questioned as to his age.

Pedigo wrote Savage, setting forth that the latter had violated the liquor laws by selling intoxicants to a minor. Savage replied that he would be glad to have an interview with Pedigo concerning the matter. This was followed by a second letter from Pedigo in which he intimated, it is alleged, that the matter would be forgotten and all claims settled by the payment of $150. It was at this point that Savage called in the police.

On Wednesday Pedigo was arrested at the post-office by Traffic Officer Bernstein, but through error was not held up. While the officer thought Pedigo was drunk, he did not know what the charge against him was and therefore could not hold him.

Officers Waited for Him.
Immediately after his release Pedigo went to Savage for an interview, and in order to give the police an opportunity to catch him, he waited for his visitor for yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Wiley and Kellam were notified and at the appointed hour they visited Savage's place to await Pedigo's arrival, but he did not appear. When it was apparent he was not coming Wiley and Kellam went to Pedigo's home, 4 West Cary Street, and took him into custody.

Pedigo came to Richmond last June from Louisville, Va. He declared that he had always borne a good reputation and could establish that fact by prominent citizens. Although the charge against him is only a misdemeanor, Pedigo was unable to furnish bail for his release to appear this morning in Police Court.

The police say they have a clear case against Pedigo. The principal evidence against him will be the letters written by Savage and the accused. Pedigo denied the charge that he had sold beer to Pedigo's son.

GANS-RADY COMPANY

THROCKMORTON OUT FOR RE-ELECTION

Favors Tax Commission, Salaries Instead of Fees, and Public Accounting.

Favoring a tax commission which will bring about equalization, rather than segregation, C. W. Throckmorton, announcing his candidacy for re-election to the House of Delegates from Henrico County, makes a declaration of his platform. He stands for restricting the State for legislative purposes, the liquor enabling act, election of all officers by the people, first ascertaining that they are properly qualified; amendment of primary laws to insure equality in elections; enlargement of the powers of the State Accountant so as to enable him to examine into the affairs of all public officers who handle the people's money, and salaries rather than the fee system. On the tax question his stand is as follows:

"One of the most important matters to be acted upon will be tax reform. The State is now a unit of equalizing taxable values. It is very unfair to require the taxpayers of one locality to pay more into the State treasury on the $100 actual value than is paid by the taxpayers of another locality on the $100 actual value. In the city of Richmond and Henrico County our property is assessed at about 75 per cent of its actual value, while in some other localities the property is not assessed at 25 per cent of its actual value. It does not require very much knowledge of arithmetic to show that we are paying into the State treasury on these assessments three times as much taxes as these other localities. Therefore, we should have a tax commission to see that each $100 worth of property in the State is assessed at the same figure. But the opponents of this plan tell us that we will be interfering with local self-government. State revenue is not a local matter. The State is acting as a unit in raising its revenue. It would be as reasonable to say that each member of a partnership has the right to say how much he will contribute to the expenses of running the business, when all are equally interested in it."

"They also tell us that segregation is the panacea. Segregation means the setting apart of certain kinds of taxable values; for example, franchises, corporations, etc., for State taxes, and leaving all other property to be taxed for local purposes."

"But is this practical? The advocates of the measure at the last session of the Legislature acknowledged their inability to prepare a law under this plan which will work. The State as a unit must look after schools, prisons, health, roads, asylums, etc., because they are matters in which all the people of the State have an interest, and so far have been unable to find any particular subjects which will produce sufficient revenue to provide for those expenses, and leave enough for local purposes, and until we can find them, our only hope is in equalizing taxable values. Therefore favor the tax commission plan."

No contract with any person or firm shall, "in the absence of fraud," be affected or invalidated by the fact that directors are interested or connected with it, and all directors are relieved of liability that might otherwise exist from contracts with the corporation for the benefit of himself or of any concern in which he is interested.

VETERANS RECALL CIVIL WAR DAYS

Each Soldier Tells Record at Lee Camp Inspection—Cane Given to Burnett.

War times were vividly recalled last night, when R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, United Confederate Veterans, held its inspection at the Blues' Armory. About 100 veterans formed on the wide floor in parade order, while the band played "Dixie" and "Auld Lang Syne," and then each soldier told the record of his service, including how many times he was wounded and imprisoned.

A cane bearing an inscription relative to the occasion was presented to J. E. Burnett, eighty-four years old, of Company H, Fourteenth Virginia Infantry, who was the oldest veteran in Confederate uniform present, by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, president of the Daughters, made the presentation. The company of veterans first formed at Lee Camp Hall, and marched to the armory, led by the band and followed by a large crowd. The parade was then formed by Captain J. Taylor Stratton, adjutant of Lee Camp, and inspected by General J. Thompson Brown, assisted by Colonel W. B. Freeman, division adjutant, and Rev. James Powers Smith, D. D., chaplain.

The company was divided into cavalry, infantry and artillery, and each veteran then called out his name and company, brigade and division in which he served. Those who had been prisoners of war stepped forward, and each told how many times and under what circumstances he had been captured. Finally, the wounded, who included about half of the veterans present, formed in lines according to the number of wounds they had received, and related, each in turn, in what battles they had received them. Among the wounded were Judge D. C. Richardson, former Congressman John Lamb, Commander T. Catesby Jones, of Lee Camp, Major W. McK. Evans, of the 1st Virginia Cavalry, and Colonel Joseph V. Ridgwood.

At the conclusion of the inspection the veterans once more formed their ranks and marched back to Lee Camp Hall, where refreshments were served.

HOUSING EXPERT MAKING SURVEY

Accurate Data Being Compiled on Living Conditions in Richmond.

Copies were received in Richmond yesterday of the proceedings of the Second National Housing Conference, held in Philadelphia on December 4, 5 and 6, 1912, issued under the auspices of the National Housing Association. The reports show that 221 delegates were present from all sections of this country and Canada. Seventy-six cities were officially represented, only three of which were in the South.

Richmond had four delegates, Baltimore two and Savannah one. The Richmond delegates were W. T. Dabney, business manager of the Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Roy K. Flannagan, of the State Department of Health; Dr. E. C. Levy, Chief Health Officer, and Gustavus A. Weber, secretary of the Society for the Betterment of Housing and Living Conditions in Richmond.

Andrew H. Christian, Jr., president of the local society, is a member of the board of directors of the national association. The Richmond society was organized less than a year ago for the purpose of dealing with the housing and living problems of this city. A few months ago it engaged the services of Mr. Weber, of Washington, as executive secretary. Mr. Weber having organized the Philadelphia Housing Association. He is now engaged on a comprehensive study of local conditions with the aid of a number of individuals and societies, and expects to make known the results of his survey of this city within a few weeks, when the society will launch an active campaign for better housing and living conditions in Richmond.
